

PETER HEIMES DEAD!

The death of Peter H. Heimes, R. N., '14-'15, came as a distinct shock to the alumni of St. Joseph's College.

Director of the college health center for 25 years, "Pete," as he was better known to two generations of St. Joe students died June 28 of a coronary occlusion in St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Lafayette. He had been ill since June 18 when he was taken to the hospital following a heart attack.

The infirmarian was born in Rhineland, Germany, in 1891, and studied at St. Joseph's in 1914 and 1915. After completing his training in Cleveland at St. Vincent's Hospital he remained on the staff for one year as a graduate nurse. He later studied X-ray and laboratory technique at St. Elizabeth's in Lafayette.

Pete joined the staff of St. Joseph's College in 1922 celebrating his silver jubilee of faithful service to the college last March. Recent remodeling and expansion of the health center was effected under his direction.

In 25 years of service, Pete endeared himself to thousands of students and the Congregation of the Precious Blood which founded and operates the college. The priests, brothers, and students of the religious community remember Pete's soul in their Masses and prayers.

More than one priest and many laymen will remember that the path to their life's goal was made more smooth by Pete Heimes. Countless others will cherish the inspiration they received from the exemplary Catholicity that characterized his life; that motivated his kind and sympathetic attention to all who came to him for help—whether it was pills for the body, or pills for the soul.

The prayer of the college and alumni staff is that Pete be richly rewarded by the Divine Physician Whom he followed so closely.

The funeral was held in the college chapel where the V. Rev. Henry A. Lucks, c.p.p.s., celebrated a Solemn Requiem High Mass assisted by the Rev. John A. Downey, '30-'35, and the Rev. Edmund J. Guillozet, c.p.p.s., '25-'29.

In the sermon, Father Lucks pointed up to the fine qualities of loyalty and persevering service that marked Pete as a whole-hearted friend of the college and the community, earning the gratitude and respect of all he served.

Interment took place in Mt. Calvary Cemetery, Rensselaer. Mr. Heimes is survived by his wife.

Peter Heimes, '14-'15

Oldtimers Swarm Back For Three-Day Reunion

A huge crowd of alumni returned to their Alma Mater for the alumni reunion days, June 21, 22 and 23. With many alumni unregistered the official number of 159 swelled toward a near-record attendance.

Eight states were represented with men from West Virginia, Pennsylvania, and Wisconsin coming from great distances to add to the success of alumni day.

Thomas J. Holtz, '37-'39, was the first alumnus to register, arriving from Elkhart, Ind., on Friday evening, June 20.

These men who comprised the largest crowd of alumni in perhaps eight years, evidenced great spirit and the old time flavor as they participated in all or many of the events.

Each of the events is reported elsewhere in this issue, as is the outcome of the business meeting.

The Cook County alumni of greater Chicago will hold their third quarterly meeting of 1947 Tuesday evening, July 29, in the Sieben gardens, Chicago—two blocks south of North Ave., and two blocks east of Halstead. Any St. Joe men who are in the vicinity at the time are invited to come as guests of the chapter. If you missed alumni days on the campus, you will hear about them at this meeting. About fifty members of the chapter attended its last regular meeting in April.

Father H. Beuke ...

Ill for practically two years of high blood pressure, the Rev. Henry Beuke, c.p.p.s., '08-'14, died June 19. Pastor of St. Anthony's in Park Falls, Wisc., since 1933, Fr. Beuke had spent 27 years in the priesthood.

Joseph Weigel ...

Mr. Joseph Weigel, '25-'29, of Ellis, Kansas, was struck and killed by a passing automobile as he stepped from his own car to assist a friend who was stalled along the highway. The accident occurred early in May.

1938, was the American provincial of the Congregation of the Precious Blood. The services will begin at 10:00 a. m. in St. Monica Cathedral, Cincinnati, with Bishop O'Hara of Kansas City officiating as Consecrator, and Bishops Albers and Bennett, '06-'09, as Co-consecrators. Monsignor Issenmann, '25-'27, Chancellor of the Archdiocese of Cincinnati, will deliver the sermon.

The Bishop-elect's brother, Bro. John Marling, c.p.p.s., '18-'23, instructor of Mathematics at the college, will be joined by the other brothers of the college in attending the consecration.

Appointment recently of the V. Rev. Joseph M. Marling, c.p.p.s., Ph. D., '18-'23, as auxiliary bishop of Kansas City, was of great interest to alumni and classmates.

The bishop-elect's appointment was announced in Washington, D. C., by the Very Rev. Amleto Cicognani, apostolic delegate to the United States.

August 6 has been selected as the date for the consecration of bishop-elect Marling who, since

This issue of CONTACT is your souvenir of the alumni reunion of 1947. Many more items of interest concerning alumni days that could not be crowded into this issue will be carried in the next edition two weeks hence.

'36 Comes Through—Gift for the College

The class of '36 presented the college with a check for $128.00 during the business meeting of the alumni association, June 22.

Announcing that the check was to be used for the purchase of a Bell-Optican projector, the Rev. George C. Muresan, '31-'36, committee chairman presented the check to the alumni secretary in behalf of the class of '36.

The Rev. Muresan with his fellow committee members, the Rev. Anthony V. Gamble, c.p.p.s., '32-'36 and Henry Gzybowski, '30-'36 explained that the projector will be used in the visual-aid department of the new library.

Conley Sets Date

The wedding of Miss Kathleen O'Grady, of Chicago, and Robert J. Conley, '37-'41, will be solemnized Oct. 18 at Visitation Church, Chicago.

Yardstick or Rule?

How measure success? The success of alumni day, for instance. With a yardstick, happily and blindly pointing to the great numbers registered? Or, perhaps, with the Golden Rule.

I think that's it. What was done to others as we would have done to us? A reunion packed with activities was planned to fill three days, planned for 30 as well as for the near 170 odd that actually attended.

With the same Golden Rule the alumni pitched-in on all of the fun and the events to guarantee everyone the fullest measure of enjoyment. Much was accomplished by the golden standard to insure more beneficial and lasting relationships between the growing St. Joe and her active alumni.

Perhaps the greatest success of these days was the birth of a new slogan for the next alumni reunion. Originated by Ed Henrich, '24-'27, and his former classmates, the new slogan: "Triplicate in '48," presages a new and finer spirit among the alumni. All for a greatest St. Joe. Word is being spread throughout the eight states concerning the pleasure and enjoyment afforded all in the last reunion with a reminder not to miss next year's.

The report of the alumni secretary as given to the membership at the business meeting will be carried in the next issue of CONTACT. The gratitude of this office is sincerely extended to all the alumni who attended this reunion for their indispensable role in making it a success!

Baseball's Moral Victory!

You should have seen the alumni-student baseball game! The oldtimers had all the wisdom, grace, understanding and age on their side.

When the smoke had cleared away, the alumni nine—playing hardball which was a little dangerous—had actually survived seven innings of play and had amassed four runs on three hits and in spite of four errors. Practically every former student who could tell a baseball from a grapefruit donned a uniform and played. Needless to relate, the uniform did more for the looks of the oldtimers than it did for the students.

Mike Moriarty's uniform delayed the starting of the game. Mike, who has grown considerably since he left the campus, had trouble finding a belt long enough to suspend his baseball jeans. Mike later delayed the game on several occasions as he patrolled the right field area and the old Raleigh smoking grove, leisurely asking onlookers if they'd seen any line drives hit by students coming out this-a-way.

Batting practice for the alumni almost cancelled the game itself, let alone delay it. This pre-game warm-up with the stick consisted of one pitch and one shaky bingle just over second base. The alumni batter had swung to avoid getting hit by the ball. He cracked the bat, hurt his hand, fell down after he swung, and skinned his knee. So batting practice was called off and termed an extra-hazardous unnecessary by the moguls managing the alumni squad.

And so it came to pass that a serious bunch of community students took the field as the first inning got underway. As we mentioned before, the gray-beards amassed an awe-inspiring total of four runs on three hits. Here's how they did it.

First Inning

Layden walked. Scharf slammed out a single which rolled as far as second base. Father Conroy bunted, forcing Layden at third. Leugers hit a mighty pop-fly to the pitcher. Scharf, who should have known better, attempted a steal of third base, where the ball was waiting for him.

What did the students do in their half of this inning? Oh, they got to Joe Leugers' blooper ball for a mere four runs and three hits.

Second Inning

Kozielski struck out. So did Moriarty. Serewicz poled a fly to right. The students didn't do much either.

Third Inning

Joe Leugers walked. Father Smolar bunted, and was safe at first when the throw went over the first baseman's head, Leugers scoring, Father Smolar continuing to second. Layden popped out to the catcher. So did Scharf. Father Smolar stole third. Before the game, he had been told that a handkerchief pulled out of the coach's pocket meant steal a base on the next pitch. Five grains of ragweed pollen blew across the diamond. The coach sneezed. Then, with the student catcher holding the ball, the coach pulled out his handkerchief—to blow his nose. Need I say that Father Joe Smolar was out stealing home plate—on Sunday, to boot? Serves him right!

The students got two runs.

Fourth Inning

Sindelar grounded out, short to first. H. Leugers popped to the shortstop. Kozielski struck out. Hoyng became the alumni pitcher, Joe Leugers shifting to center field.

The students got a hit, but they didn't score.

Fifth Inning

Ikovic grounded out, first baseman to pitcher. Serewicz was thrown out, second to first. Joe Leugers was hit by a pitched ball and then stole second. Curosh walked. Leugers got tagged stealing third.

The students in the seventh? Well now, they got to Hoyng for seven runs and seven hits! The oldtimers were getting mad and vowing vengeance.

Sixth Inning

Vichuras beat out catcher's throw to first. Hoyng was called out on strikes. Scharf doubled to right, scoring Vichuras. Sindelar doubled to left, Scharf moving to third. Father Len Cross elected to run for Sindelar. H. Leugers was safe at first when his high fly was dropped by the left fielder. Scharf scored. Father Cross, it still being Sunday, to boot, made a clean steal of third. Ikovic bounded out to the first baseman, Father Cross scoring. Serewicz flew to center field. (quite a feat!)

The daughter of George Sindelar, '09-'13, has brought fame to the House of George as a star player in Chicago's softball leagues. Daddy Sindelar would like to serve notice on his daughter and the sports world that he has contributed to that fame with his stinging double in the alumni-student baseball game, June 22. Yes, dad still wields a mighty mean baseball stick.

Scharf took the mound for the alumni.

The students got two hits, but didn't score.

Seventh Inning

It was the first half of the last inning, and the oldtimers were ready to unleash a furious attack. Joe Leugers popped out to the catcher. Curosh struck out. So did Vichuras. The game ended and a cheer went up for the alumni, who had so valiantly scored four runs and three hits, as we mentioned before.

The students?

Well, they only got 12 runs and 20 hits. The alumni won for all practical purposes, on their four runs and three hits.

Officiating—The alumni office at first hesitated to release the information that other alumni officiated. Ed Henrich (Tom's big brother) did a nice job behind the plate. (Even the students said so.) Lear, in a straw hat, sharp suit and a necktie, blinded any student attempting to find third base; and Kallal who frequently yelled, "wild, wild," could be heard in Rensselaer every time student Rhinehart threw a strike across the heart of the plate. At least the officials called them well, probably because their natty sports attire wouldn't stand the traditional trip to the pond after the game.

The oldtimers are saying, "Better watch out for next year." They've already petitioned Father Walter Pax to introduce a survey course next alumni day on "Baseball, and the Fine Art of Defeating the Students," to be professed by Fathers Fred Fehrenbacher and Marcellus Dreiling, both erstwhile diamond luminaries in their own rights.

koffee haunter kolumn

by A. DRINKER, '36

Between cups of that golden brew called coffee, your columnist had a lot of fun on the three alumni days.

You might not believe it, but I'll bet my last pound of java grounds that 90% of the alumni boys are coffee drinkers, drinkers with good judgement.

The drive the old boys showed in at least the first two innings of the baseball game was unmistakably bolstered by the stimulant from a terra cotta cup.

It was a lot of fun just to see the alumni enjoying the events, enjoying Timezapoppin', and enjoying their friends, seeing some of them for the first time in many, many years.

I would tell you about that show Timezapoppin' but you wouldn't believe it. I was going to swear off coffee for life when I saw that 5-foot bull snake on the stage, but they proved to me that it was the real thing—wasn't even pink.

This month it's easy to twirl our ole spotlight and stop on a good coffee drinker among the alumni.

We ceremoniously tip the ole percolator to Edward J. Henrich, '24-'27, a good drinker of coffee and the originator of the alumni slogan for next year: "Triplicate in '48!" Ed. Henrich, the coffee man of the month.

TIMEZAPOPPIN' MADE A HIT!

"Timezapoppin'," the extravaganza of alumni days, June 21-23, tapped the rich traditions that are Collegeville. Written and directed by Paul Monastyrski, '34-'36, alumni secretary, it offered two and one-half hours of hilarity Sunday evening. Pre-philosophy students of the Society of the Precious Blood impersonated the characters.

There was, of course, Father August Seifert, the daddy of so many students of the days before 1913. There was Brother Fidelis and Brother Cob. Father Christian Daniel, first student to register at St. Joe in 1891, tried in vain, in Timezapoppin's peculiar version of history, to be the first student. And in his short pants with bare legs, his bright red, blustering bow tie, and with his trunk and suitcase, he finally chose, in desperation, to register at the Monnett School down the road a piece.

Steve Tatar, the stick-up man of the early '30's, never did catch up with Looie Stock of the same era. Nor did the county sheriff, hot on the trail of Steve, get a bead on the culprit with his fire-spitting law enforcer.

Other characters more or less taken from real life added to the frolic before and after the cigarette girl came down from the stage to peddle her wares. More confusion ensued when the sandwich boys entered the aisles from the rear of the auditorium to dispose of real, juicy Miss Brown specials and soft drinks during intermission.

"Timezapoppin'" tapped the rich treasury of traditions. It only tapped it. More hilarious rib-smashing is in store for the alumni in the 1948 version of Timezapoppin'.

If those present dreamed of live snakes in their beds that night, they and those who observe the slogan born over alumni days, "Triplicate in '48," may find crocodiles or even full-grown pink elephants in their soup next year.

And there probably will be more home-comers who will volunteer to play an actual role upon the boards as did the Revs. James Conroy, '26-'32, and George Muresan, '31-'6, with Lawrence Moriarty, '34-'38, Clarence Sieben, '21-'23, and Anthony Teolis, '39-'42, this year.

Formerly of Swanton, Ohio, Paul G. Linehan, '35-'37, is now in the real estate business with his brother and auction business with his father in Adrian, Mich.

Paul was in the army for nearly five years, serving in the European theatre most of the time. Two years ago last March he married an English girl. Mr. and Mrs. Linehan live at 909 Vine St., Adrian.

MEN OF MANY TALENTS are these three. Once they enacted the three little sisters of St. Joe; other scenes, other parts. Harry J. Cavanaugh, '47, also played Harvey Schmal; Paul E. Wellman, '47, hoisting the dumb-bells was the sweetheart of the campus; and Louis C. DeBrosse, '47, played the famous sheriff of Jasper Co. who to this very date has not captured the Terrible Tatar.

Overheard in the Audience

"Timezapoppin' fooled them all; it was far and away the best entertainment St. Joe alumni had ever seen; oldtimers flailed helplessly in their seats when the sheriff ran through the house in search of Fr. Kenkel; when a bull snake stole the dorm scene; and when Father Seifert sent everyone home on the 4:49. Every living St. Joe man will want to see the sequel next year. It'll be just as terrific!" Richard M. Scheiber, '37-'41, member public relations and advertising staff, St. Joseph's College.

"I have never seen so much craziness packed into one program!"... Rev. Clement Crock, '06-'11, priest-author, Cambridge, Ohio.

"Excellent show! I know everyone enjoyed it."... Very Rev. Henry A. Lucks, c.p.p.s., Ph. D., '15-'21, president, St. Joseph's College.

"I liked the impersonations of old timers that I have known. But I thought that more alumni should volunteer to present skits reminiscent of students days. Anthony Teolis, '40-'42, as Professor Giuseppe Fortissimo Pianissimo Umbriago, directing a student octet, pulled the bull frog right out of the pool."... Rev. Sylvester H. Ley, c.p.p.s., '13-'18, director of public relations and college publications, St. Joseph's College.

"Timezapoppin' was a great show, and things were really poppin'."... announced over radio station WJOB, Hammond, Ind., on the Spotlight of Sports program by sportscaster, Ed McElroy, '40-'43.

"That Timezapoppin' was wonderful. I don't know when I enjoyed any program as much. You just can't beat that audience-participation!"... Rev. Joseph Otte, c.p.p.s., '27-'32, treasurer, St. Joseph's College.

"It held me to my seat till the very last moment. Superb!!..." James R. Bogan, '40-'43, ass't. registrar, St. Joseph's College.

"In all these years they have done everything in the auditorium but eat. Now, they have eaten!"... Rev. Ildephonse Rapp, c.p.p.s., '93-'00, professor, public speaking department.

"The character that impersonated me did well, but I've got prettier ankles and I can prove it too. Great show!"... Henry Gzybowski, '30-'36, Chicago, Illinois.

"That show was all right! There was some cornzapoppin' in it, too."... Ed Henrich, '24-'27, Mansfield, Ohio.

"Timezapoppin' should be taken on the road—it's definitely box-office material!!!"... Rev. Edward Roof, c.p.p.s., '18-'23, director of athletics, St. Joseph's College.

ADDING FUN AND SNAKES these characters had the alumni in stitches. Sew what? Lined up are John E. Bolan, '47 as the BTO; Kenneth W. Forsthoefel, '47, with Freddie the snake wrapped around his neck. Ken played the part of Lefty Lefko of St. Joe's hold-up era; Rocco Cosentino, '47, and Kenneth P. Gates, '48, played the brother roles of Pete and Joe who parked themselves on either end of the stage and griped and interrupted the entire show.
